Governance

Through Foresters volunteer leadership opportunities, members have access to personal development, social interaction and participation in Foresters governance.

As a modern fraternal benefit society, our global community of more than three million members is led by member leaders in a representative form of government, called the Member Network.

Foresters is member-based and democratic, which means members can stand for election themselves or vote for the members that do.

We have two levels of elected leadership. Our 50 Branch Councils and five Regional Councils are made up of members interested in sharing their ideas on member programs and policy, and planning for the future. Members of the Councils are also responsible for electing the International Board of Directors.

Eligibility requirements and limitations

All volunteer leaders must be members in good standing. Non-voting members⁷ may participate in or lead Foresters community projects but are
